

What is GEIGER education?

Tailored especially for small businesses, the GEIGER educational programme offers a range of learning opportunities.

In addition to basic cybersecurity courses for small business employees, GEIGER covers a Certificate Programme for Education Providers to train “Certified Security Defenders” to take advanced measures for cybersecurity within their company or other companies.

Security Defenders – who are they (and how to join them)?

Certified Security Defenders are designated persons who take over responsibility on cybersecurity within their small business.

Security Defenders are trained to monitor the cybersecurity risks of their business with the GEIGER toolbox, and to communicate cybersecurity basics to their co-workers.

GEIGER courses will be offered by GEIGER Education Providers such as small business clusters and alliances.

The GEIGER approach offers business opportunities for training providers. Trainings can focus on different target levels – from 'Improving Cybersecurity' to 'Taking Responsibility for Cybersecurity' – each with the help of the GEIGER Toolbox.

How (and why) to become GEIGER Education Provider?

GEIGER Education Providers receive a package of ready-to-use learning materials and features, as well as a state-of-the-art curriculum on cybersecurity for small businesses.

Education Providers offer GEIGER courses on several learning levels, starting from basic knowledge in cybersecurity up to training for Certified Security Defenders. Courses cover cybersecurity topics and usage of the GEIGER toolbox to monitor your own business. Learning materials can be adapted for the specific target group.
